

Poems

GEOFFREY CHAUCER (1343-1400), was the son of John Chaucer, a London vintner. In 1357 he served with Lionel, duke of Clarence. In 1359 he was in France with Edward III's invading army, was taken prisoner, and ransomed. He married Philippa, the daughter of Sir Paon Roet of Hainault and the sister of John of Gaunt's third wife, Katherine Swynford. Chaucer enjoyed Gaunt's patronage throughout his life. He held a number of positions at court and in the king's service, and he travelled abroad on numerous occasions on diplomatic missions to France, Genoa and Florence. He was appointed controller of customs in the port of London, and was knight of the shire for Kent. His last official position was deputy forester in the King's Forest at Petherton in Somerset. Poems (1370-1400), this book includes the works of his middle period of both French and Italian influences.
